Set your programmable thermostat for the cool months

FYI: A furnace does NOT have to work harder to warm a house after the temperature has been set low during the day.

To achieve savings:

- Lower at least 10 degrees for the hours you're asleep or out of the house.

Here are a few programming timing tips that can help you create the best set-it-and-forget-it heating and cooling schedule for your home:

- Shut down heat or air conditioning 20 to 30 minutes before you leave home each day.
- Turn on heat or air conditioning 20 to 30 minutes before you come home each day.
- Reduce the heating or cooling 60 minutes before you go to sleep each night.
- Increase heating or cooling about 30 minutes before you wake up each morning.
- Spend time tweaking your program for a few days to make sure it feels right.
